Ink in the Wheels:
Stories to Make Love Roll
The journey of an inter-ability married couple as they explore the courage and perseverance to thrive.
S. BARTON AND MEGAN M. CUTTER

Ink in the Wheels: Stories to Make Love Roll by S. Barton and Megan M. Cutter

Cutter's Edge Consulting, LLC
$15.97, paperback
ISBN: 978-1-4675-4459-7
February 15, 2013
Memoir
Available from the publisher and www.Amazon.com

A groundbreaking memoir about love, disability and perseverance, Ink in the Wheels: Stories to Make Love Roll is the unlikely story of Barton and Megan Cutter, and their journey to build a successful marriage despite others expectations. Barton Cutter, who has Cerebral Palsy never expected to fall in love, never mind getting married, and Megan was still grieving over the loss of a relationship and the death of her mother. Until now, there have been few accounts of a couple that addresses the themes of disability, intimacy, and marriage.

Ink in the Wheels: Stories to Make Love Roll
delves into themes of family influences and dynamics, creating external and internal support networks, direct support staff and the balance of care giving, losing faith in one another and themselves—and finding it again.

Watch the book trailer here .

With a BA in Creative Writing from the University of Arizona, Barton has created for himself and his family a life that speaks to his deepest values. His passion for helping others grow is evident in his writing, teaching martial arts, and life coaching, not to mention his ever-optimistic approach to life. He has written on disability-related issues for The Raleigh News & Observer, A BILITY Magazine
, the NC Council on Developmental Disabilities,
Persona Magazine
, the NC Office on Disability & Health, and the NC Disability Action Network.

With a BA in English/Creative Journaling from Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Megan has focused her writing efforts by organizing local literary events and supporting the local writing community. Studying Aboriginal oral tradition in Alice Springs, Australia, she has distinctive ability to see many angles of the story and uses joy and laughter to honor these essential aspects of our stories.

Megan has published clips in Natural Awakenings, Med Monthly, News & Observer (North Raleigh News),
Circa
, and Jubilation
. Her writing features local community organizations, emphasizes local sustainability, and brings together different communities into common goals.